Sheila Waring on club people

Bill Cocking played cricket into his fifties and looked after the ground. Richard Tyas and Richard Hobson have also done a brilliant job. But singling out people isn't fair!

Barbara Lockwood and Alberta Longley did the teas long ago in what was then known as the tea tent. And we've got a great set of girls doing them now.

There's now a tradition at the club that we hand out a man-of-the-match award, especially when the junior sides are playing. John Smith recently scored 80 v Hoylandswaine and he won it for that.

But it was very cold during that match and I had to sit in the car!
