

HEART AND SOUL

Gavin Moody on the village and the club

I've played at Greetland for 25 years. My dad Trevor played here in the 1950s and 1960s and so did my brothers Derek and David. They won things here, and so did people like Gordon and Dave Scott, who are still connected with the club.

The club used to be the heart and soul of the village. Even I can remember this. Even in the 1980s it was still a big thing but it's been a struggle since the early 1990s. I'd say there's been a steady decline since then.

I'm really loyal to this club. It's in my family's blood and I'll always be here, even if it is a struggle sometimes. Me, my mates and my family all grew up round here, at the top end of the village – three houses next door to each other!
