INTRODUCTION

The origins of Copley Cricket Club lie in a team called Copley United C C which was certainly playing in 1864 when it had 19 members. They played on the village recreation ground. One of the small pavilions referred to in an 1891 report was replaced by a new building in 1909. This in turn was replaced in 1969, the new building being positioned at the opposite end of the field. The ground was bought from Bentley's Yorkshire Brewery for £200 in 1920. In 1932 they lost to Halifax in the final of the Parish Cup.

These records were deposited by the Club as a result of the Cricket Heritage Project and a more extended history of the Club can be found at:
